

Celebration Game Time

Game Time will last one and a half hours. Below are the available games. Make a schedule to show how you would spend your time. After each event, record how much time you used and the clock time you will have completed the activity. Game Time will begin at 12:25. Estimated wait times from previous years have been included to help you. Remember to include time to eat a snack, travel from game to game, etc.

“Knock ‘Em Down” Three tries to knock down 4 wooden bottles --- about 30 seconds to play but this is popular (winners get a free pass to Water World Park) so there is about a 5 minute wait for your turn.

“Water Balloon Toss” Pairs of competitors toss a water balloon from one partner to another. After each toss, the distance between the partners is increased. Winners are the last pair to break their balloon. This game takes about 9 minutes and there is a wait of about 8 minutes. Winners receive a free bag of popcorn and a soda.

“Three-Legged Race” The legs of pairs of competitors are tied together, and they race other pairs. This takes about 5 minutes and there is a 4-minute wait in line. Winners receive a free pass to the movies.

“Tablespoon Relay” This is a relay in which you must fill a tablespoon, race to a container, and empty it, repeating until you have filled the container. Winner is the first person to fill the container. This game takes about 3 minutes and there is a 4-minute wait. Winners receive a free cup of ice cream from Ben and Jerry’s.

“Backwards Race” This is a race in which you run backward to the finish line. You must have a partner to help guide you. Winner is the first person to cross the finish line. This takes about 2 minutes. The wait is 3 minutes. Winners receive a free soda.

“Hopping Good Time” In this event you hop your way to the finish line. It takes about 3 minutes and the wait time is about 3 minutes. Winners receive a candy bar.

“How Long Can You Hold your Breath?” In this event you will try to hold your breath longer than the other competitors. At the end of the day, the person holding his/her breath longest will win a $20.00 gift certificate to TCBY. This takes about 4 minutes and the wait is about 4 minutes.
